SUMMER IS A TRYING TIME FOR CINCINNATI CAR MEN

not have a tendency to make a man smile or look pleasant. Safety for the passengers, safety for the company's property, always are uppermost in his mind. But strange to say, no one ever seems to think of safety for the street car man. Seven days a week he must toil (and I wish to impress upon your mind that they are long days). He has no time for study or recreation. He must get what little sleep he can in order that he can meet nature's requirements in order to perform his duties tomorrow. Remember it is hard work to smile and look pleasant when it is all hard work and no pleasure. This is the life of the street car man. Give him a smile and a good word if you can spare them, so that he can say, "Well, my life really had a little sunshine in it after all."

CAN'T COLLECT "DAMAGES"

Fort Smith, Ark.—The non-union Bache-Denman Coal company will not collect three times $427,820.77 from 200 members of the United Mine Workers' union, and this concern has lost faith in the Sherman anti-trust law as a means to destroy trades unionism.

Several months ago the company declared for the non-union shop. A strike resulted, followed by the suit for damages. International officers of the mine workers were included. Attorneys for the workers asked Judge Youmans of the United States district court to dismiss the suit on the ground that the ownership, conduct and operation of a coal mine is not interstate commerce and does not, therefore, come under the jurisdiction of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The judge sustained this position and threw the operators' plea for three-fold damages out of court.

Because of the court's ruling the principles of the Clayton act were not passed upon by Judge Youmans.
